

Shop Here Tomorrow

Store Closed Thursday--Holiday

By reason of the fact that we shall be closed all day Thursday, we have arranged many special features for tomorrow. This is particularly true in ready-to-wear. Then, too, the opening of the Toltec Club, Friday night, will make many demands on the toilette that can best be met here. We mention, in addition to the evening gowns and wraps, such items as Fans, Scarfs, Hair Ornaments, Gloves-in fact, whether it be the complete costume or just one item it is here your particular need can be supplied best.

Advance Sale of Furs

Price Advantages Are Most Unusual

An important feature here this week is the Advance Sale of Furs. The saving represented is about 25 percent. Not only do we offer you this substantial saving but present for your selection a collection of furs which is, beyond a doubt, the handsomest it is possible to assemble. Besides the very expensive furs ordered especially for our recent Fashion Show, the range extends down to the more substantial and less expensive kinds. Stocks are replete with handsome fur coats and the individual pieces—muffs and neck pieces—from which to make the set. We mention a few of the various furs on sale—Black Lynx, Black French Cooney and Black Hare, American, Japanese and China Mink, Blue Wolf and Australian Opossum, the White Iceland Fox, the Natural Squirrel and the Natural Fox, the Silver Fox and Silver Hare.

(Children's Fur Sets are included in this week's sale.)

A Deposit Will Hold Any Fur For Future Delivery

Demonstration of "Bon Ton" Corsets

A consulting corsetiere from New York is at your service. The Bon Ton Corset Co. has sent to El Paso one of their most expert corset fitters. She is ready to consult with, and advise, our customers as to the correct corset for each individual figure. For the present, she will hold, except Thursday, daily consultation in our Corset Department. This service costs our customers nothing, and gives them an opportunity to learn from absolute authority just what corset conforms the best to each particular figure. Notwithstanding you are tall and slender but short waisted or stout with narrow shoulders, a little time spent at the "Bon Ton" Demonstration will result in Corset Satisfaction.

Little Red Book in Evidence.
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 11.—"The little red book," the personal expense record of Henry C. Osterman, former president of the Osterman Manufacturing company, was presented in evidence in the Illinois Central car repair fraud case in the municipal court. The book, tendered by the prosecution as its trump card, was presented by Henry C. Dolph, one time head of the Osterman concern, who spent several hours on the witness stand. Dolph was permitted to refresh his memory by referring to the book. In this manner a number of pages in the book were admitted as evidence against Frank B. Harriman, John M. Taylor, and James L. Ewing, the defendants. The defense, however, fought the admission of each page.

Mrs. Jolley will be glad to see her friends and customers at The Pattern Hat Store, 219 San Antonio St.

More help will also arrive in November.

POSENER'S OPENING

El Paso's Newest and Most Unique Store Building Began Business This Morning

El Paso is nothing if not progressive! This was again proven true this morning when the new Posener building was thrown open. This is El Paso's newest business establishment and stands as one of the most unique buildings in the United States. Enthusiastic crowds began at an early hour, and continued. To describe in detail the various floors would be an endless task. The show windows, alone, offered a beautiful showing sufficient in itself to interest every visitor. Among the endless, bewildering beautiful things shown in the windows the one to which all others gave place was a handsome Parisian set of hat, stole and mink. This was snowy white, being made of ostrich feathers and swansdown. This set is not only the handsomest ever seen in El Paso but also one of the handsomest ever brought to the United States.

On entering the store, the visitor found a beautifully appointed salesroom. Here were shown all the novelties in ostrich plumes, in French and willow styles, birds of paradise feathers, aigrettes and every other imaginable conception in feathers. Here also were seen beautiful scarfs, chate-laine novelties, from the inexpensive to the solid silver kind, the new mesh bags and many other novelties. The big electric elevator carried the visitor quickly and noiselessly to the second floor, where were shown the Parisian pattern hats. Such a display has never before been seen in El Paso and to miss seeing it will be unfortunate.

The elevator being crowded, the visitor used the spiral stairway, which connects the entire six floors, and so reached the third floor. Here were shown an array of stunning tailored models from such representative makers as Bergessner, Phipps, Gage, Fisk, Dunlap, Knox and every hatter of repute. This collection of tailored hats, like the display in the Parisian salon, it would be impossible to describe individually. A visit is the only way to fully appreciate their beauty.

The spiral stairway again did service and the visitor arrived at the fourth floor, which is a duplicate in point of beauty and completeness of the other two, but the stock presented is entirely different. Children's and misses' hats comprise the major portion of the showing. In addition, are seen a vast collection of street hats.

Upon trying to reach the fifth floor, which is the millinery workroom, the visitor found that this floor was not open to public inspection yet, but would be in a day or two. Entering the elevator, the visitor quickly descended to the subsection of the Posener building, which is the beauty parlor. This being something entirely new to El Paso, it easily divided attention with the other departments. The beauty parlor is really a white marble hall. It is equipped with white enameled sanitary furniture and all scientific equipment known. Sterilizing cabinets, basins with hot and cold distilled water, all gave evidence that no point has been overlooked.

As the store space on the various floors is limited, the Posener opening continues all week, and there is no doubt that everybody in El Paso will avail themselves of this opportunity of visiting this unique El Paso establishment.

AMUSEMENTS.

PRINCESS THEATER.
The manager of the Princess theater announces that he has on the program for tonight a great picture in Thelma, adapted from Marie Corelli's book, and produced by the Thanhouser company. The staging and photography in this picture are very fine, says the manager.

BERT GAGNON SCORES AS "BROWN" IN "BROWN OF HARVARD"
Manager Rich says El Pasoans are not slow in recognizing talent when the opportunity is presented, and on Monday the word was passed, "See Brown of Harvard" at the Crawford, for it's worth several times the small prices, and Bert Gagnon is fully as good as was Harry Woodruff in the role of "Brown."

There will be a Wednesday matinee at 10c and 25c prices. All seats will be unreserved.

THE MAJESTIC THEATER.
The Irish Senators are entertaining the patrons of the Majestic, and manager Rich says that, judging from the reception they are receiving at each performance, they are more than pleasing. Two shows nightly; prices 10c and 25c.

FOUR INDICTMENTS RETURNED.
Four indictments were returned by the grand jury Tuesday. J. H. Hicks is charged with criminal assault; J. T. Bentley, alias J. C. Smith, is charged with assault to murder and burglary, and the other party indicted is not in custody.

SKIRTS—SKIRTS—SKIRTS.
Sample line at Manufacturer's prices, Pattern Hat Store, 219 San Antonio St.

The Days of High Priced Millinery Have Departed

Previous to the opening of our establishment, El Paso people were accustomed to pay almost fabulous prices for handsome millinery that happened to please their fancy. We decided, from the beginning, to do things differently, and we have already proven conclusively that handsome millinery can be sold at a reasonable price and still afford a legitimate profit. We much prefer to do a volume of business at small profits than a small business at enormous profits.

One Price---No Reduction

One of the hardest things we have had to overcome is to disabuse the public's mind as to price-cutting. Time after time, prospective customers have walked out of the store because of the fact that we would not cut a price. However, the majority of them came back, and told us frankly that after making a comparison they found our millinery superior to that shown elsewhere even when prices were cut and re-cut. We respect the public's intelligence too much to make any ridiculous claims, and at all times every assertion made in our advertisements, and in our store, will be fully backed up.

Styles Superior --- Values Better

Unanimous approval has been accorded us for the superior styles we show and the better values. The beautiful hats that we have secured from noted millinery artists, together with those from our workroom, form a collection of millinery that is not approached in El Paso. This has reference to both styles and values. Whether you select here a hat from foreign fashion centers, or one of those we have prepared from our own general ideas of style, the result will be the same—satisfaction. On the other hand, if we haven't a hat that conforms to your exact needs of face or figure, we have unquestioned ability to design something especially for you.

CITY AND COUNTY ASSIST IN CHARITY

At Joint Meeting Officers Decide to Assist the Women's Charity.

Under the patronage of the city and county, the work of the Women's Charity association will be carried forward. The county and city fathers at a meeting late Monday afternoon voted to subscribe $100 each per month to the fund. The action was the result of the appeals to the county and city by the charity association.

TEMPORARY TRACK FOR THE SMELTER LINE

Inspection of a proposed preliminary grade for the street railway company during the building of the viaduct on the smelter car line, has been made by acting mayor J. I. Hewitt, aldermen Clayton and McGhee and city engineer Todd. It will require about four months to complete the viaduct.
